

Sculptures and collages

Carnivores	Animals that eat meat.
Contemporary	Modern art, the art of today.
Etching	A printing process created by scratching lines onto a plate, applying ink and then paper.
Exoskeletons	Animals that have their skeletons on the outside.
Invertebrates	Animals without a backbone.
Land art	Art that is made directly into the ground using natural materials such as rocks or twigs.
Pattern	A repeated decorative design.
Sculpture	A 3D (solid) piece of artwork.
Sketch	A rough first drawing which helps you to plan your work.
Textile	Cloth or fabric.

Key Facts

I can make patterns	by repeating motifs.
I can make my patterns regular	by using the same amount of printing ink and pressure when making my print.
Etching tools can be used to create patterns	by scratching into a surface which I then apply ink to and print from.
I can create a clay pot	by making a long thin roll, or coil of clay which I wrap around to make a pot.
A carnivore	is an animal that gets food from killing and eating other animals.
A herbivore	is an animal that only eats plants.
An omnivore	is an animal that eats plants and animals.
That camouflage means	animals and insects that can blend into their surroundings so they cannot be seen.
That recycled junk is	used paper, cardboard and plastic and tin which can be reused to make other things.
A motif	can be printed to repeat and look the same.
To make a design symmetrical	I need to make it exactly the same on both sides.
To work collaboratively means	to work in a group on the same piece of work.
A strut is	a structural support to strengthen something.
Bronze	is a strong, hard material.
Metallic means	a metal colour.

Artists' work looked at:

William Morris

A textile designer from Britain who created patterns inspired by nature.

John Henry Dearle

A textile and stained-glass designer from Britain who was taught by William Morris.

Louise Bourgeois

Louise Bourgeois was born in France. She is best known for her large-scale sculpture and installation art pieces.

Susan Beatrice

A modern artist from Britain who uses parts of old watches to create sculptures and jewellery.

Andrew Goldsworthy

A sculptor and photographer from Britain who makes land art.

Edouard Martinet

A modern artist from France who uses scrap metal to create sculptures of fish and animals.